A BOLD SNEAK THIEF. He Successfully Gets Away With Sc

Yesterday afternoon a bold sneak thief entered the house of Don Jose Felipe Sagrario, No. 1431 Q street, and got away with some property. Mr. Sagrario is secretary to the Spanish minister, and his wife went to market vesterday and when she returned home she discovered that some silver spoons and forks had been taken from the dinner table. Just as she reached home a colored man reached the house with a message, and hearing a noise in one room he opened the door and grabbed the thief, a young colored man, and held him. The latter pretended to be badly frightened and would remain seated without any trouble. Word was sent to a neighboring drug store and from there a message was sent to

AMUSEMENTS.

THE DAMROSCH CONCERT.—As was expected a listinguished audience filled the Luther Place Memorial Church last evening on the occasio of the second concert by the New York Sym phony Orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. Walter Damrosch. The work of this orchestra has been recognized by the music-loving nec ple of this city, and in the program last night it furnished much pleasure. In the Raff symphony there was some uncertainty in the closing of the first movement, but the second was ex-quisitely given, and in the march the perfect control which the conductor has over his force was manifested in a marked degree. The was manifested in a marked degree. The screnade for strings by Nelkman was deliciously played, Mr. Anton Hekking's 'cello obligato proving him to be a finished performer. The well-kown introduction to the third act of "Der Meistersinger," with which the program closed, gave the audience a taste of Wagner and its interpretation showed the intelligence of the young conductor. In fact in avery number of young conductor. In fact in every number of the orchestra the ability of Mr. Damrosch was clearly manifest. He follows no traditions. but thinks for himself and imparts to his play ers his own readings and inspires them with a portion of his own enthusiasm. He has his spirit. That at so early an age he has attained so high a reputation as a conductor is due to his undoubted talent as well as to his careful early training and his indomitable perseve ance. The larger portion of the audience la night, perhaps, was more interested in the first appearance in this city of the pianist Ignace Paderewski, and when he stepped upon the stage to sustain his part in Rubinstein's fourth concerto he was greeted with the most rapturous applause. His pictures are faithful reproductions of his appearance, which is truly dramatic. A great shock of red hair that looks innocent of comb or brush surrounds head of somewhat peculiar shape. His face is thin, strongly marked and utterly expression-less. At no time was there any movement of feature or glance of eye to indicate that he felt in any degree the sentiment that he was en-deavoring to express. He sits low at the piano, for his movement is mainly from the wrist; but he plays with marvelous precision and ne plays with marvelous precision and power. His execution is something wonderful, the most complex passages being given with an ease and clearness that demonstrates his complete mastery of all the technical difficulties of his instrument. In the three movements of the concerto the second developed best his delicacy of shading and power was most manifest. In his second number he gave a group of three selections. two by Chopin—the nocturne in B major, op. 62, and the well-known waitz in B flat—and Liszt's Hungarian Rapsody, No. 12. The nocturne and the Liszt selection were played with great effect and the enthusiasm of the audi-great effect and the enthusiasm of the audi-ence was excited to the highest degree. Again and again was the artist recalled and finally he responded to the wild desire for more and played a Polish dance, "Krakowiak," of his own composition, which was a pleasing melody and an exquisite bit of fingering.

It is perhaps unjust to give a complete judg-ment upon Paderewski at the first hearing last night. He will appear at two recitals, tomor-row and Saturday afternoons at the University row and Saturday afternoons, at the Universalis Church, when he will present programs o his own selection and will be able to display a greater range of interpretatior. That he is a performer of the highest technical skill his work ast night demonstrated. Of his intellectual grasp, his power to comprehend the true spirit of the works of the great composers, oppor-tunity will be given in his recitals. Prof. Warman's Readinos.—Prof. E. B. Warman, the elocutionist, will give a farewell entertainment at the Central High School Hall tomorrow evening. His program of readings and recitations will include humorous and seri-ous selections, and among the latter will be Buchanan Reade's stirring poem, "Sheridan's Ride." Prof. Warman will also introduce his original Indian club system of exercises, which will be of particular interest to the young gentlemen of the High School. Robert G. INGERSOLL.—On Sunday evening Col. Robert G. Ingersoll will deliver a lecture on Shakespeare at the New National Theater, seats for which are now on sale at the box office of the theater. Col. Ingersoll's reputa tion as an orator is nowhere better known or appreciated than in Washington, and he will probably be more eloquent in his treatment of the great dramatist and poet than in any of his lectures upon other subjects.

To Examine Washington's Sewing Schools The system of sewing classes adopted as a part of the public school education in the District has attracted the attention of the public educators throughout the country, but particularly those of the neighboring city of Baltimore, and a committee representing the schools of that city have arranged a visit to Washington for the purpose of holding a conference with Supt. Powell on the subject. The ference with Supt. Powell on the subject. The serious results. arrangements have been made by Mr. H. A. Wise, the superintendent of schools in the monumental city, and Mr. Powell, in replying, has set upon Monday or Tuesday of next week for the visit. There is some incredulity on the part of the school commission of Bulti-more when the results of the Washington sys-tem, with such a small number of teachers, tem, with such a small number of teachers, have been laid before them, and one of them has gone so far as to say that one hour's instruction a week, with fifty papils to each teacher, must be a humbug. Prof. Powell has insisted that the real success of the system here proves this to be unfounded, and he invites the investigation of the Baltimore educators before integring the realize. judging the matter.

Death of Mr. Henry Brooks. Mr. Henry Brooks, a respected colored citizen, died at his residence, 1736 L street northwest, on Tuesday, aged eighty-one years. Mr. Brooks held responsible positions, to which he was appointed by Presidents Lincoln, Johnson and Grant. He was an honest, faithful and upright man, and had a host of official and social friends, who deeply regret his loss. For more than sixty years he has been an active member of the A. M. E. church. Mr. Brooks leaves a widew and five children, viz, James H. Eliza-beth, Julius, Alex. and Georgie Brooks. The funeral will take place from the Metropolitan A. M. E. A meeting of citizens of the northeast, espeially those residing and owning property in that section lying outside of the Boundary, including a large representation from Ivy City, was held last night at the corner of 12th and M streets, called for the purpose of organizing an adopting measures by which the necessity of local improvements may be properly laid before the District Commissioners and Congress. Over fifty persons were in attendance. Mr. George P. Davis called the meeting to order and briefly stated its object, after which Mr. Davis was chosen chairman of the meeting and Thos. J. Clarke was made secretary. Considerable discussion was participated in by Messrs. Davis, Bealer. Clarke, Suess, Mackey, Boyer and others as to the proper appellation of the organization and the territorial limits in which organization and the territorial limits in which the society should confine its work. It was finally decided to name the organization the Northeast Citizens' Association and to confine its operations to the locality north of Florida avenue, west of Biadensburg road and east of Kendall Green and the Brentwood road, covering especially the two localities of Trinidad and Ivy City A permanent organization was effected by the confirmation of the temporary officers and the addition of a list of vice presidents, among which occur the names of Theodore Holbrook, A. J. Gieason, I. P. Childs, J. H. Lewis, J. Fred Myers and others. A committee was appointed to draft a bill to be prenittee was appointed to draft a bill to sented to Congress, to be supplemented by a petition, asking for the grading, curbing and sewering of M street from Trinidad avenue to 12th street and 12th street from Boundary to Mount Olivet road, and the extension of 12th street through Ivy City, and the construction of a bridge across the Baltimore and Ohio railroad for this purpose, under the direction and according to the decisions of the District Commissioners. A committee or constitution and by-laws was also appointed, consisting of Messrs. Mackey, Lewis, Kaye, Brant and Tompkins. It was decided to urge the passage of the bill granting a charter to the proposed Northeast Street Railway Company. Messrs. Boyer, Clarke and Anderson were ap-pointed a committee on hall, after which the neeting adjourned to meet at the same place on Wednesday of next week. ANIMALS IN MOTION.

An Interesting Lecture Delivered to the Students of the Corcoran Art School. Mr. Eadweard Muybridge, celebrated in the revolutionary work of the instantaneous photography of animals in motion that he has been carrying on in this country during the past two decades, elelivered one of his delightful lectures last night before the art students of the Corcoran Art School and the members of the Art Students' League in the Corcoran school room. It was attended by over 200 people, whose work is directly in the line of the revelations that have been made by Prof. Muybridge as to the actual motions of men and animals. The lecture was profusely illustrated with lantern slides made from Prof. Muybridge's original photographic plates taken during his experiments, which, he explained, were begun twenty years ago in California. Senator, then governor, Stanford, was anxious to ascertain beyond a doubt whether or not a to ascertain beyond a doubt whether or not a trotting horse is at any time in his motion en-tirely off the ground. Horsemen declared this to be impossible, but with the aid of the photo-graphic plate it was positively demonstrated that even at the top of speed a trotter is wholly free from the ground, and in fact would not be trotter otherwise

From this start came the other experiments in the way of investigating the entire field of animal motion, which has destroyed most of the former ideals of the attitudes of both men and animals while under muscular influences, as exemplified in the work of artists of a former

Prof. Muybridge showed that there were cer-Prof. Maybridge showed that there were cer-tain rules about horse and other animal motion that rendered it quite possible to formulate every gait into laws, and which further proved that all animals walk alike. This latter proposition, however startling it may have been, was amply demonstrated by the plates shown, even to the extent of showing an exact resemblance between the walks of a horse and a camel

It was decided to communicate with the Independent Order of Rechabites, Knights of Pythias, Improved Or-der of Red Men, Grand Army of the Republic and request their co-operation. It was also suggested to have an industrial parade. Some thought a commodious speaker's stand should be erected at some central point. Others thought this expense might be avoided by util-izing the service of the Baptist Church, or that in front of the Washington street public school. At 9:30 the meeting adjourned.

GRACE CHURCH READING ROOMS. Good Work Done by Pastor Smith-A Talk by

Rev. James D. Smith, pastor of Grace Baptist Church, corner of South Carolina avenue, D and 9th street southeast, is delighted at the bright prospects of the free reading room opened in the church Monday evening. The room is in the basement of the church, where association of citizens of this locality, with a tables are piled up with current literature. view of urging improvements and advising and | The church is a new one and nearly all the indebtedness upon it has been provided for. When the pastor accepted a call to the church the congregation numbered less than one hundred, and now since the pastor made a house to house canvass the congregation numbers nearly three hundred. Speaking of the move ment of having the reading room open the pastor told a STAR reporter that it was done to give the young men in that vicinity a place to spend their evenings other than in salcons and other places where they would likely get in other places where they would likely get in trouble. The idea, he said, was to make a free would feel at home. The opening for this month is an experiment, and if it proves a success it will be continued and an effort will be made to make the room more complete. It is the pastor's idea to provide gymnastic exercises of some sort and if necessary furnish the young men coffee and sendwiches. men coffee and sandwiches.

Every Wednesday there will be a lecture to young men and boys, and effort has been made to secure talented persons who will best entertain the frequenters of the room. Last evening there was a large audience to listen to an address by Mr. James J. Brooks, deputy chief of the secret service, who is deeply interested in the work of caring for the boys. His remarks were directed to giving the boys good advice and pointing out to them how to keep on the right road. During the course of his remarks he referred to the work of noted coun erfeiters and explained how they rose from young men to finally get into prison instead of keeping on the right path and attending to their everyday religious duties. GEORGETOWN.

BEATH OF WM. T. DOVE. Mr. Wm. T. Dove, one of the few of this sec tion who have passed the eightieth year of life, died at his home, 3301 O street, early yesterday morning. The deceased was well known, greatly respected and very popular with all who knew him and his death has called forth many expressions of the sincerest regret. For some time before his demise Mr. Dove was confined to his home, but his friends thought his ailment only one of those to which old age is heir to. Funeral services will be held at Trinity (Catholic) Church on Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

A SLIGHT FIRE. Fire broke out yesterday in the frame dwellng No. 3411 Road street, owned by Mrs. Charles suckley and occupied by a Mr. Murdock. An alarm was turned in. No. 5 appeared almost immediately on the scene and her commanders succeeded in keeping the loss on the smaller side of $30. A detective flue is supposed to have been the cause of the fire. AN UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPT AT BURGLARY.

Night before last some unknown person forced an entrance into the coal office of Mr. A. G. Johnson, corner 32d and P streets, and turned the chairs, tables, books, papers and desks topsy turvy in his endeavor to make a haul. The burglar, however, was unrewarded for his trouble, as nothing of value is ever left over night in the office. A PIE BAKERS' UNION BANQUET.

At the West Washington Hotel last night the Pie Bakers' Union gave a banquet to the delegates to the Central Labor Union, American Federation of Labor. Representatives of other ades were present and contributed much to the evening's enjoyment. Among those who responded to toasts were Mr. Arthur Small of responded to toasts were Mr. Arthur the Plate Printers' Union, Mr. Miller of the machine workers, Mr. B. F. Knight of the tile setters and Mr. Patterson. The merry was kept up until a late hour. NOTES.

It was the annual war scare, which is gotten up by these same people just about the beginning of every Congress. The scare is always based on some trifling incident, in itself of no importance and out of the question as a casus belli. One year it was the Bering sea dispute and we were sure to have war with Great Britain. Then it was the Mafia lynching at New Orleans that was to involve us with Spain. SCHOOL GIRLS REBEL They Object to Removing Corsets in Taking Physical Culture Exercises.

Physical culture exercises have brought discord in the Woburn, Mass., High School. Several girls of the class are determined to make dead at the age of sixty-five years. He was a pastor of the Menonite Church for many years. He is survived by a wife and six children.

For $8,500 Dr. D. W. Ragan bought the old of the muscles should not be hampered by anything in the nature of a straitjacket. The girls do not want to discard corsets. They claim also that the exercises are too violent and that they feel the effects of the exertion long after the class is dismissed. The exercises are simple and similar to those in use in girls' schools. Three months ago several members of the class rebelled over leaving their corsets off when attending the physical culture session. The teacher firmly insisted that they should be removed. Then came a little deception, and the teacher found it necessary to inspect her pupils to ascertain if they were Tuesday was physical culture day, and two of the girls asked to be excused. Their request was refused and they fainted. An immediate explosion resulted, and the young women took explosion resulted, and the young women took up arms against the "torturing" exercise. The teacher at times has found it necessary to suggest to the class that the prescribed home exercises be more faithfully attended to, and those in authority assert that members of the class have hindered the teacher by not heeding those instructions. For that reason she supposed girls who fainted were shamming in order to escape the routine exercises. Several physicians will attend the exercises on Tuesday next, and will determine whether the instrucnext, and will determine whether the instruc-tion is liable to injure the health of the class.

Killed by Her Jealous Lover. Maggie Weinmuller, twenty years of age, a lomestic living at No. 24 East 126th street, New York, was shot and instantly killed by Frank Zenner at a late hour last night. The nurderer made his escape. Zenner and Miss Weinmuller were lovers. They had been out together during the evening, and about 11 o'clock returned home to the girl's employer's. They stood in the rear way of the house for some time. Finally Zenner put his arm around the girl's neck. They were seen by another girl employed there, who took this for an endearing action. A moment later he drew a revolver and, placing it against the girl's head, fired. She dropped to the pavement and the murderer took to his heels. It is stated that Zenner was insanely jealous of the girl and this probably was the cause of the crime. Weinmuller were lovers. They had been out

THE SIGNS IN THE HEAVENS.

Lieut Totten Figures That the Savior's Adnt at Any Moment. Lieut. Totten, United States army, in an interview yesterday in New Haven regarding the conjunction of Jupiter and Venus, had this to say in regard to a circumstance that is attracting wide attention:

"It is a rare occurrence instead of a frequent one. It always coincides with notable events These planets are for signs and seasons. They never fail to make them. Some twenty-one conjunctions have occurred since Luther's time. I will refer only to the last. On July 20 and 21, 1859, there was a conjunction of Jupiter and Venus which closely resembled the coming one, Now, this conjunction followed the regular law and preceded historic events of the utmost mo-ment. They give warning to the watchers exactly as the conjunction which preceded the nativity by several years warned the magi of coming events. The conjunction of 1859, of course, preceded the year 1860.

"Let us see what occurred in 1860 and thereabouts. It is perhaps needless to mention the civil Naples on October 15. Garibaldi defeated the Neapoittans at Volturno and greeted Victor Emanuel as King of Italy on October 26. He enters I Naples as king on Nevember 7. This was as shoft as the Franco-Prussian war.

cant in religion. The massacre of the Onristians by the Druses was May 25 to July 1. The Mohammedans massacred the Christians at Da-mascus, 3,890 slain, on July 9; the English and French governments interfered in August; 4,690 French soldiers landed at Beyrout on August 22; Lord Dufferin, the British commissioner in Syria, arrived in Damascus on September 6.
Note now that these September dates both in Mohammedanism and in Italy, both struck to gether. Note, however, a more significant fact
From the Mohammedan capture of Jerusalem. A. D. 637, to the Syrian massacre, followed by European intervention, and to Victor Emanuel' success in the western hierarchy are exactly ar years. The next seven years were loaded with religious dates of vital diplomatic import and ended with the 1,335th solar year from Justinian. All know the events of the succeeding years, for the decade closed in 1870, or 1,260 years from the celebrated decree of the Emperor Phocas, and the temporal power of the pope was at least for a little season over.

"Take again one more illustration, a brief one—I have no time for more. I believe the advent season actually dates from 1828. This was exactly 2,520 years from Israel's captivity I use Israel in distinction from that of Judal. Their times of punishment were over. Since 1828 the watchers are counting one generation of three score years and ten to at least the lunar beginning of the climax, be that what it may.

"My answer to that is, 'the world endureth to solve so outrageous a problem. The end of the age is a différent thing. My belief is that it ends with the generation now living. The Saviour's advent is imminent at any minute."

ex-Senator John J. Ingalls at the Grand Pacific in Chicago yesterday. "Here the Baltimore was in the harbor of Valparaiso, where she had no business to be. She had a right to be there, to be sure, and be ing there our flag and uniform were entitled to respect, but she had no business there. Her sailors went on shore and got into an altercation. Had they and their ship been where they ought to have been, in the barbor of San Francisco, New York, Boston or some other American seaport, they would not have been burt. But the officials wanted to make a show of action and they sent the Baltimore to Valthey have no business. "The supposititious trouble with Chile was "No, sir. A navy will only get us into trouble, just as the Baltimore did. There is no necessity for this country in sending a lot of war ships swaggering around the earth saying 'the United States must be respected.' The United States is respected without any bullying of that sort."

Mr. Cleveland Evades Politics. Ex-President Cleveland returned to New York city last night from his pleasure trip to the south. A number of reporters attempted to interview him on the political situation, but the subject was always cleverly evaded by Mr. Cleveland. On all other subjects, however, he was voluble enough. He finally escaped from the reporters and left for his home at Lakewood, N.J.
